C. H. Engle was First Man to Ship Berries from Hartford in the Early Days.

WAS THE FIRST BERRY BUYER

While watching the activity of local berry last buyers last Monday, our veteran townsman, C. H. Engle, grew reminiscent and related some interesting history relative to the birth of the berry industry in Hartford.

Mr. Engle was the first man to realize the commercial possibilities of shipping berries from this section. and the first one to made a shipment from Hartford to the Chicago market. It was along in the tifties.long before Hartford enjoyed the benefits of railroad transportation.

The only berries obtainable at that time were the buckleberries and the wild raspberries and blackberries, which he purchased from the Indian pickers. The convenient berry crate used by the farmer of today was unknown then, and he was compelled to market the berries in bushel boxes rudely constructed.

To get them to Chicago they had to be transported overland to St

Played Fifteen Inning Ball Game with Schoolcraft Yesterday.

The base ball season opened at Paw Paw yesterday with a game between the Paw Paw and Schoolcraft teams. It took fifteen innings to decide the contest, Paw Paw finally winning out by a score of 4 to 3 It was one of the most hotly contest ed games ever played on the Paw Paw grounds, and altogether was one of the best exhibitions of base ball ever witnessed there. Schoolcraft supports a very fast team, while Paw Paw is playing practically the same swift bunch that they did last year. Sanger, whose pitching has been a feature of Paw Paw's playing for the past two seasons, is with the team again this year.

Two automobile loads went over from Hartford to attend the game, the party consisting of M. C. Mortimer, V. W. Olds, G. W. Ocobock James and Frank Eagan, Chas. Ford E. B. Bennett and E. D. Conklin.

BAN ON BAD HOBOES

Berriem Officials Made a Tour of Inspection of Hobo Camps.

An attempt was made to burglarize the department store of Enders & Giesler at Watervliet last Thursday night, and the sheriff's force of Berrien county at once made a tour through the numerous hobo camps! along the line of the Pere Mtrquette between Watervliet and Benton Harbor in the hope of finding some clue to the perpetrators, but met with little success.

Dozens of hoboes were rounded up, however, and the members of each camp were informed that a close watch would be maintained on the wanderers who congregate to work on the fruit farms through the summer months, and that all bad characters would be promptly culled out and deported in the hope of preventing a repetition of the reign of crime which existed last year.

Both Governments Have Agreed to This Arrangement-Date of Conference and Selection of Plenipotentiaries Not Yet Announced.

Washington, June 16.—America's national capital has been selected as plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan in the negotiations toward ultimate peace in the far east, instituted by President Roosevelt.

This statement was supplemented ment. shortly afterward by a semi-official announcement that "after meeting and organizing the plenipotentiaries of the two governments, if it should be found to be uncomfortably hot in Washington, may adjourn the meeting to some summer resort in the north and there continue their sixings until such time came known. Time of Conference.

The proposed conference is scarcely likely to be convened before the middle of August, and perhaps not until a lat er date. It may be July 1, possibly a little later, before the arrangements for the meeting of the plenipotentiaries finally are completed. Both Russia and Japan are moving with the utmost deliberation, for the game of diplomacy new being played is of even greater importance to each government than are the movements of the armies on the battlefield. After the completion of the preliminary arrangements, the plenipotentiaries must proceed to · Washington, and it will require at least a month for the negotiators of the two governments, with their respective staffs, to come together, the distance from Japan, particularly, being so great that a shorter time scarcely could be allowed. In view, therefore, of all the conditions and incuding in the equation the factor of unforseen delays over matters of minor consequence, it seems quite unlikely that the conference will assemble formally before the middle of September.

Hitch Is Averted. St. Petersburg. June 19.—Russia has finally and definitely accepted Washington as the meeting place of the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, the foreign office having waived its request for reconsideration at the personal direction of the emperor, whose desire to give the fullest and fairest opportunity to President Roosevelt's proposal for a peace conference is hereby manifested. After a conference with Ambassador Meyer, Count Lamsdorff, the foreign minister, went to Peterhof, and laid the matter before the emperor, who, on learning that insistence on The Hagre might endanger the negotiations, directed Count Lamsdorff to inform Ambassador Meyer that Russia would accept Washington. The result is looked upon as a decided triumph for American diplomacy. In certain quarters here envy and jealousy of the United States are ill concealed. The entire collapse of the negotiations was predicted Saturday, and there was almost open exultation at what was declared to be a "rebuff to Roosevelt." Even in peace circles gloomy faces were drawn at the report that Russia would insist upon The Hague, but thanks to the personal attitude of the emperor and to the well put representations of Ambassador Meyer the threatened diplomation mountain has decreased to a mole hill over which nogotiations can now proceed rapidly.

A Better Understanding. Paris, June 19.—The improvement in the Franco-German situation took a more definite turn Sunday as the semiofficial version of Saturday's conference between Premier Rouvier and Prince in principle the plan of an international conference, leaving the details to be hira, the Japanese minister, had with adjusted later. Premier Rouvier answered that he desired at first to be president the Japanese govrnment's advised upon Germany's object in securing the conference and the questions it would be called upon to consider. As the result of instructions from Berlin, Prince von Radolin was municated by President Roosevelt to able to respond to these inquiries and to relieve the conference plan from any appearance of being a menace to France or of being a preliminary step to override French prestige in Morocco. Great Britain's Attitude.

Premier Rouvier also conferred at onsiderable length with Paul Cambon, the French ambassador to Great Britain, following the latter's conversations with Lord Lansdowne, the British foreign minister. These conversations showed that the British declination to participate in the conference had been entirely free from the belligerent tone ascribed to it. Moreover, Great Britain is resolved to adhere to article nine, of the declaration of April 8, which says: "The two governments agree to lend each other diplomatic support for the execution of the clauses of this declaration." Great Britain inends to loyally interpret this article, and according to the indications furnished by her will assist France in setlling Moroccan affairs.

Opinion here in Berlin that German diplomacy has inserted a wedge beween France and Great Britain and destroyed the growing friendship between them by putting France in such a position that she made demands on this friendship which Great Britain would not meet.

MICHIGAN SOLONS RETURN FOR FORMAL CLOSE.

(Wm. Ellery, Staff Correspondent.)

Lansing, Mich., June 19.—Again the solons are back in Lansing for the closing formalities of the Michigan legislature's Forty-third session, and after more than a week of duffness the city has again resumed the lively aspect which a crowd of restive legislators may be calculated to bestow upon a state capitol. Friday and Saturday were gala days with the solons for the longest session of the Michigan legislature's history is at an end and the drudge of a session which had for its working theme but one measure of importance is to be repeated no more according to frequenttime is at hand; it is for practically only session: "The meeting has been a busy one; personally, I am well satisfied with the results accomplished. > Berries Highest in Ten Years. For the first time in the history of the Michigan fruit belt Milwuakee and the northwest have been out off as a strawberry market. Because of the Chicago strike, the express companies refuse to handle consignments that must be transferred in Chicago, and without a boat line to the Wisconsin port, the army of shippers are restricted. Because of a short crop and the poor quality of the southern harvest berries, they are bringing a higher price than at any time within ten years. Growers are selling to commission men for $1.60 to $1.85 per case, and it is not believed that the high water mark has yet been reached.

> > No Argument, Says Warner.

Since the passage of the Lovell bill to reorganize the state tax commission there has been more or less gossip as to whether any agreement was entered into by Gov. Warner as to the men whom he will appoint under the new measure. Gov. Warner positively denies the existence of any agreemnt. He says with relation to the matter: "I made no agreement of any kind in relation to these appointments, and I was not asked to do so. I don't even know myself whom I shall appoint." It is supposed in some circles that Gov. Warner's insistence upon the Lovell bill taking effect before the next railroad assessment is made means that he will not reappoint Commissioners Freeman and Sayre. As he named Commisisoner Hoyt, of Wayne county, only a few months ago, it is to be presumed that he will again be appointed, and it is also considered likely that Commissioner Shields, of Houghton county, will remain on the commission, because the influence of the upper country will stand by him. Shields was also reappointed at the beginning of the present session.

Fine Wheat Outlook. From indications pointed out in the recently issued crop report, it would seem that Michigan is in line for an excellent wheat yield this year. If conditions are normal from now until harvest time the wheat crop will be one of the best ever raised in this state. There has been a great growth of straw, so that there will be a tendency for it to lodge this year. If wet weather continues and high winds occur it will interfere with the filling of the wheat and thereby cause some loss. However, if the weather is reasonably fair it will ripen evenly, leaving only the work of harvesting in order to secure the grain. The average condition of wheat is in the southern counties 98; in the central counties 96. in the northern counties 89, and in the state 97. One month ago the condition of wheat was reported as follows: Southern counties, 97; central counties, 95; northern counties, 89, and state, 96. The per cent. of wheat sown that will be marketed by farmers during last

May, is 1,055,985, which is 2,312,050 bushels less than reported marketed in the

AMUSED THEMSELVES IN THE COURTS.

There is rather a peculiar state of affairs at South Haven in which both parties claim to be happily satisfied with the outcome of a bitterly contested lawsuit.

Some years ago the Dunkley-Williams company purchased a bigsteamboat which was too long to wind in the harbor, and they concluded to dredge the river a bit wider at their dock. In doing so they cut away some land belonging to D. H Patterson and Representative Sam Kelley of Benton Harbor, doing the work on Sunday when an injunction could not be served, and then offered what they considered a fair price for the property.

Messrs. Patterson and Kelley suddenly concluded that they did not want to sell, and so started proceedings to compel the boat company to replace the land. The company lost at every point as the matter was bushels of potatoes unsold. Last fall threshed through the various courses they refused 25 cents per bushel for price for the property.

But they didn't. Instead they obeyed the order of the court, and secured a tug and are now towing surance that the seventeen-year lothe big steamer out into the lake, instead of winding it in the harbor, astrous numbers this year. The situation stands just as it did before the dredging was done, and both parties in the case claim to be delighted with it. Apparently it was a case of expensive litigation for the mere sake of amusement.

J. W. HELME, who has given much of his time through recent years to the promulgation of democratic ideas purposes, is now editing an alleged grange paper along strictly democratic lines. In a recent issue of his publication, the Michigan patron, Ex-Senator Helme beats his breast pompously, points with pride to himself as a yard-wide reformer, and quotes on the scaffold" verse. Helme's reform programs are usually taken bodily from democratic platforms.

Had his ideas of truth in political affairs been accepted by the people of this country, the miserable freesilver absurdity would have impoverished and demoralized the nation.

Helme's opposition to protection would have been more costly to the farmers of this country in a single year, had it been successful, than all the reforms he has ever suggested would have been worth in a thousand years. None of Helme's ideas have ever been enacted into law and our state and country are better for their absence.

THE fruit grower never falls into the habit of trying to corner the market, the principal reason for which is the fact that his product must be marketed when ripe. That temptation seems to lurk in the path of the extensive potato grower, however, and in some instances has proved his undoing. The farmers around Northport still have thousands of

Scientific Cruth, Not Cen Commandments, Binding

By PROF. JOHN MERLE COULTER. University of Chicago.

Science never accepts a thing as a truth until it is tested. These ancient moral codes were only attemptedtements at truth, which therefore had first to be tested. Science would never raise the question whether the ten commandments or the sermon on the mount are binding upon this nation, or that nation, this generation or some other, but simply whether they contained principles essential to a well-ordered individual or society. This is the test of such codes. Is science should find that they are true and always apply everywhere, just as the accepted law of gravitation always applies, then these codes may be accepted as the truth.

If science could detect that only at times are these principles essential to order and system of the individual or society, then science would reject them as not the truth. The scientific mind never accepts a thing as the truth unless it is first thoroughly tested, no matter what the source of the information may be, or how high the authority that sends if forth.

It is impossible to estimate the effect of the scientific spirit. It is making the world at large more sane and better able to repress unbalanced thinking. The scientific attitude of mind is the logical attitude. There is no such a thing as jumping at conclusions to the scientific mind. Every investigation must begin at the origin and be traced to the conclusion before the matter investigated can be accepted by the scientific

Hence, science will teach the world to reason logically and from principles of truth. It is easy enough to reason from accepted and tested truths to new truths, but when the basis of the reasoning is an uncerainty or unknown, the conclusion must be uncertain. This scientific attitude of mind that is gaining such a hold on the scholarship of the world is tending to make the world wiser and better. Mere vagaries and fanaticisms must fade before the searching light of the scientific in-

The world, like the individual, grows in knowledge, and the childhood of the race was compelled to receive as commands what maturity recognizes as statements of eternal truth, infinitely more binding than any commandments could be.

It is not a sin to doubt an assertion, no matter what the authority for it may be. It was not intended that man should believe all he saw and heard. He is expected to search for the truth, and to educate himself to reject the false and elect the truth. This is the scientific attitude of mind, and it has done much to make this world a sane one.

The Week's Doings in Hartford and Vicinity

MAKING THINGS HOT

Old Sol Has Been Playing a Warm Engagement the Past Week.

Old Sol has been playing a warm engagement over this section of southern Michigan the past week, evidently intent on establishing the season's record. The closing three days of last week saw the thermometer registering uncomfortably high, but on Sunday he warmed up to the occasion with unusual earnestness and residents sweltered in a temperature that sent the thermometer sizzling up into the nineties, being reported all the way from 92 to 98 in the shade.

The "warm spell" has caused corn to grow by "leaps and bounds," while the timely showers of Saturday and Sunday nights proved a boon to other growing crops. The country is luxuriant in vegetation and the farmer can club can get their badges at Myers & chinery is being installed, the interior look out upon his fields and feel that Thompson's store Saturday. he is truly favored.

Royal Neighbors.

Another pleasant afternoon was spent by the Royal Neighbors at their hall on June 14. A short program was given as follows:

Mrs. Helen Vorce Mrs. Adeline Fletcher

It is expected that deputy Hattie Lombard, of Grand Rapids, will meet with the local lodge on June 28 to give been dining on some unusually large during the night someone appropriata school of instruction. The Neighbors are requested to be out in force since Monday last. on that occasion.

Considerable complaint is made against the practice of disposing of stones and waste sod by depositing them in the village streets. Citizens doubtless place such obstructions in the streets thoughtlessly, but nevertheless they detract from the good appearance of the roads and work to the disadvantage of those who are obliged to use the streets to any great extent.

Dogs seem to still be committing their depredations among the flocks of sheep west of the village. Justice J. H. Stocum was called to the farms of Howard Lobdell and John Leach last Friday to appraise damages, the four-footed culprits having killed two sheep in each pasture. It is supposed to have been the work of the same two canines that caused considerable damage in the Ed. Day pasture last week.

A World's For Over Fair "Scoop"

WAS reading the story of the reporter who stumbled on the mystery of a wedding which puzzled all the city editors, and it reminds me of another piece of luck that made all the other reporters on the Record 'sit up' and take notice," said Billy Igleheart.

Igleheart-he is now Mr. William Igleheart and manages the Salt Lake Herald, of which W. A. Clark is president-developed in Chicago the qualities which have made him a successful newspaper publisher. During the days of the world's fair he was in charge of the Record's bureau on the grounds and bossed a staff that was enthusiastic, active and rather prided itself upon its ability to get every bit of news on the ground a day or two ahead of anybody else.

One day the rumor reached the office that Thomas A. Edison was in the city, and had been on the fair grounds every day for a week without being recognized or interviewed. Mr. Edison's opinion of the fair, and particularly of the electrical display, had been awaited by every electrical expert in the country, and the value of his impressions of the great exposition was too apparent to need a diagram. News that the wizard was close at hand and that he had been prowling about for a week without discovery, gave Igleheart a shock which produced something partaking of the symptoms of both nervous prostration and heart disease. He was certainly worried and his nights were sleepless. Every day he tried a new scheme.

and every man on the staff tried his hand at locating the great inventor. The electricity building was watched; the grounds were divided up into sections, a section assigned to each reporter, and a patrol system established which would have done credit to the experienced sleuths of Scotland Yard. A face so familiar as Edison's offered hope of detection even in a big crowd, but with 200,000 or 300,000 vis-Remember the name iters on the grounds the task proved insuperable. Prof. Barrett who was chief of the electricity department. had no information to give, no light to offer, and the boys were at their wits' end, scared all the time for fear that some other paper would blossom with an Edison story. Finally, after two days of anxiety, which threatened to send every member of the staff to the detention hospital. Igleheart decided to participate actively in the search himself. He accordingly went to the electricity building, walked into the chief's office and found the assistant, Dr. Allan Hornsby, there alone. Without giving Hornsby a chance to collect himself, Igleheart said: "Doc, I want to find Edison. I've just got to have an interview with him, and must have it to-night."

Hornsby, an old and thoroughly experienced newspaper man himself. smiled guiltily and tried to dodge, but he finally admitted with great reluctance, when pushed to the extreme. that Edison was in town, and that his whereabouts were known.

"But I can't tell you where he is," continued Hornsby, "much as I'd like to, for we are under orders not to give him away. That's all there is to it. and you are simply wasting time by trying to pry anything out of me."

Ingleheart was determined. He was also desperate, and he sat in with Hornshy for an hour, but without success. When he pleaded. Hornsby was just laughed and reminded him that he knew something about the game himself. Igleheart appealed to Hornsby's sympathies, his esprit du corps: he worked every turn which is part of the equipment of the man whose business it is to elicit information from sources from which information is not supposed to come.

At last Hornsby said: "Look here, Igleheart, there is no use of your trying the old games on me. I'm not going to give up, and if you knew where Edison is you couldn't get at him. I'd like to help you, but I can't, and that is all there is to it. You will have to try somewhere else."

At the end of another hour and purely on the ground of friendship, Hornsby agreed to write a note to Mr. Edison on the stationery of the department of electricity. It read this

"Dear Mr. Edison: The bearer is a reporter from the Chicago Record. He knows that you are in town, wants an interview and ought to have it for the persistence he has shown in locating you. With fear and trembling, I am, sincerely yours,

"J. ALLAN HORNSBY." Once in possession of the note Igle heart again tackled Hornsby for a mere hint as to the whereabouts of Edison. It was without avail. The assistant chief would not give further information, and Igleheart finally returned to his office. He thought the matter over, he figured on the possibilities and tried to evolve some scheme which might lead to a reasonable clew. Suddenly the light came. Igleheart called Herbert Wright, then a reporter on his staff, now a broker in New York, and told him to go to the residence of Lafayette McWilliams in Lake avenue, present the note which Hornsby had written and on no account leave the house without an interview. Wright was further warned to present the note to Mr. Edison in person and not trust it to another for delivery.

At that time Wright was still sufficiently young and slight to pass for an exceptionally well dressed office boy. He went to the house, said that he had a message from the electricity department and must present it to Mr. Edison in person. The servant who answered Wright's ring at the door disappeared, and presently the great inventor himself appeared, read the note, looked puzzled for a moment and then smiling broadly, said:

"Well, I'm caught. What can I do

Next morning there was a two-column interview on the front page of the Record—the most entertaining stuff printed that summer regarding the fair-and not a line from Mr. Edison in any other paper.

But even better than that, Joseph Medill, of the Chicago Tribune, saw the interview, clipped it bodily from the Record, wrote a little introduction himself and sent it to his managing editor with the word "must" on it. The introduction read:

"The following entertaining interview with Thomas A. Edison appeared yesterday morning in our sprightly contemporary, the Chicago Record.' The reprint appeared under a big head next day on the front page of the Tribune, the most conspicuous tribute one newspaper could pay to the enterprise of another. That day the entire staff of the Record at the fair celebrated, and they talk about it yet when the old fellows foregather from over the country.-Chicago Record-Hérald.

"Whoa" Is International.

An investigation in philology was undertaken recently by a well-known Kentucky horseman who was on a trip around the world. He bought himself a neat little note book, intending to enter in it the equivalent of the English "whoa" in every country he visited. There was just one entry. He found that the Russian, the Persian, the Turk, the Greek, the Chinaman, and the inhabitant of every European country stopped his horse with the same word, "whoa," and that the word was equally intelligible to horses of every nationality.-N. GRAFT SECRETS BARED

Startling Stories Told by John C. Driscoll of Money Paid to End Strike.

Chicago, June 14. John C. Driscoll admitted on Tuesday that when he was labor dictator in Chicago he acted as gobetween for various employers and paid $50,000 to labor officials to avert or settle 400 strikes. Driscoll said he was willing to go before the grand jury with check books to show to whom the graft went. He said he received $8,500 from the democratic leaders in 1903 for inducing labor leaders to urge Clarence S. Darrow to withdraw from candidacy for the mayoralty nomination. Driscoll, it was said, paid $900 to Pat McMahon for the latter's efforts in bringing about union delivery of coal to the Chicago City railway power houses. McMahon slapped Driscoll and Shea in the face with the roll of bills and refused to divide with Shea. Shea denied Driscoll's statements, asking why he should accept part of $900 when he might have had

Chicago, June 17 .- The grand jury Friday heard a remarkable story connecting John C. Driscoll with the withdrawal of Clarence S. Darrow from the mayoralty race in 1902. According to this tale, hints of which were furnished the jurors, $10,000 was given Mr. Driscoll to be used among the labor leaders in inducing Mr. Darrow to withdraw. Driscoll himself has related how certain of the labor chiefs were paid $50 each to sign a telegram to Mr. Darrow, then in Philadelphia, asking him to give up his ambition to be mayor of Chicago. "We want you for judge," the telegram explained. Afterward, it is charged, Driscoll boasted that he had received the $10,000, but that it had required only $1.500 to do the business with cheap labor leaders.

Chicago, June 19.—Admission is made by State's Attorney Healy that the grand jurors have found important evidence confirming the report that the present strike is the result of a conspiracy against the firm of Montgomery Ward & Co. by other employers and by labor leaders, involving the payment of $30,000 in installments of $10,000 and $20,000. This story was denied by President Sears, of the firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Recently Albert H. Loeb, secretary of the company, added his denial.

HIGH OFFICIALS RESIGN.

Grand Duke Alexis and Admiral Avellan, of Russian Navy,

St. Petersburg, June 16.-The sensational announcement was made shortly before midnight that Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, who is an uncle of the emperor, and Admiral Avellan, head of the Russian admiralty department, had resigned. This an nouncement was followed a few minutes later by an imperial rescript, relieving the grand duke of the supreme direction of the navy, which he had held since the days of the emperor's father, Alexander III, when Russia resolved to enter the lists as a first-class sea power, and to build up a great navy, the remnants of which were destroyed in the battle of the Sea of

Although from time to time since the war began there have been rumors that the grand duke would retire, on account of the savage criticism, not to use harsher terms, directed against the administration of the navy, especially in the construction of ships, the announcement of his resignation came as a surprise.

KILLS CHILDREN AND SELF

Mother Ends Lives of Four Little Ones and Commits Suicide with Knife.

Dubuque, Ia., June 17.—Mrs. Paul Klass has killed her four small children and then committed suicide at her home near Kieler, Wis., eight miles east of Dubuque. The woman used a large butcher knife, cutting each of the children's throats. The eldest child was six and the youngest a baby. The woman had been in ill health.

THE body gets its life from food properly digested. Healthy digestion means pure blood for the body, but stomach troubles arise from carelessness in eating and stomach disorders upset the entire system. Improperly masticated food sours on the stomach, causing distressing pains, belching and nausea. When over-eating is persisted in the stomach becomes weakened and worn out and dyspepsia claims the victim. Thedford's Black-Draught cures dyspepsia. It frees the stomach and bowels of congested matter and gives the stomach new life. The stomach is quickly invigorated and the natural stimulation results in a good appetite, with the power to thoroughly digest food.

You can build up your stomach with this mild and natural remedy. Try Thedford's Black-Draught today. You can buy a package from your dealer for 25c. If he does not keep it, send the money to The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., and a rackage will be mailed you.
