The Anderson Dam is Out; Village Again in Darkness

Dam Gave Away Friday for Second Time Within a Year.

THE Paw Paw river dam, which furnishes power for the Anderson mill and electric light plant north of the village, went out about four o'clock last Friday afternoon—for the second time within a year—and as a result the electric light plant is again out of commission.

The break this time is on the north side of the dam, but a large enough section of it was carried away to make the work of rebuilding a considerable task. Work was immediately begun upon it, but the management holds out no definite promise as to when it will be completed. They state that they hope to have the damage repaired in two weeks.

In the meantime local business houses and other patrons of the service have had to resort to kerosene lamps and other methods of illumination. Being unprepared for the emergency inadequate lighting is the inevitable result.

Two local business houses, becoming annoyed at the frequent interruptions in the electric light service, have installed gasoline lighting systems this week and others are considering similar purchases. Still others are talking strongly of holding forth inducements for the installation of another plant. From a practical business point of view, it would seem that the installation of such additional power or improvements as would place the plant on a reliable basis would be the best investment the electric light management could make. Under such conditions a sufficient increase in patronage would immediately result as to offset the expenditure within a very short time.

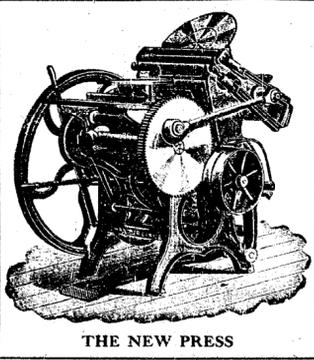

Hartford people as a whole are quite well satisfied with the service when it is given to them, and if the system was made dependable by the installation of steam power to meet just such emergencies as the present one, as they understood would be done following a similar interruption last spring, they would see that the enterprise did not lack for support.

Day Spring's New Press is Pronounced a Beauty

THE new 8x12 Chandler & Price job printing press, recently added to the Day Spring's equipment, was erected last Thursday, completing the battery of three power presses, and the new arrival has been pronounced a beauty by the numerous visitors who have inspected it.

With a battery of three modern presses, driven by gasoline power, and one of the best type equipments in the county the Day Spring is prepared for the prompt execution of everything in the printing line. This is a point well worth remembering when you need printing.

Few offices can boast of finer plants, or, we believe, of executing a finer grade of printing than the Day Spring is supplying to an increasing patronage.

Is Worth Something.

The Van Buren county normal training class started up at Hartford this week with an attendance of six. If the young people over that way knew what this training was worth they would show more interest in it. —Dowagiac Herald.

Good Crop.

One Cass county farmer, who owns a forty-acre farm, secured 800 pounds of peppermint from eighteen acres this year. The crop brought him over $2,100, and he did most of the work himself.

G. T. CHAMBERLIN

KELLEY TO MAKE FIRST SPEECH

Hon. P. H. Kelley to Speak Here Tomorrow Night.

Hon. Patrick H. Kelley, at present superintendent of public instruction and republican candidate for lieutenant governor, will deliver the opening speech of the republican campaign in Van Buren county at the Academy of Music in this village tomorrow (Thursday) evening.

Mr. Kelley is a former Hartford resident and his success in public life is a source of pride to a host of local friends, to whom, of course, he needs no introduction. Mr. Kelley is a forceful and logical speaker and the simple statement that he will be here tomorrow evening is sufficient to insure him an excellent audience.

HARTFORD TOWNSHIP BUYS VOTING MACHINE

Township Voters Will Use Machine at Coming Election.

At a special meeting last Saturday evening the Hartford township board closed a contract for an Abbott voting machine to be installed in the town hall in this village in time for the coming fall election.

The machine, together with a miniature model to be used for instruction purposes, will be installed a week before election in order that all voters who wish may inspect it and have the new method thoroughly explained to them before election day.

Mr. Clark, representing the Abbott Voting Machine company, has been in town the past week and had one of the machines on exhibition in the Ruggles store building. It was inspected by a considerable number of the voters of the township, and its purchase seems to have been in accordance with the expressed opinion of a majority of those who saw it.

The purchase price is $350, which is subject to a cash discount of five per cent if paid before April 1. Mr. Henry Spaulding has been employed by the company to take charge of the machine while on exhibition the week prior to election, and an expert will also be furnished by the company to render whatever assistance may be needed on election day.

A number of the neighboring townships and cities have equipped their polling places with the same machines, and in installing one at this time Hartford is keeping pace with this improvement. The machine will not only materially lessen the cost of each election, but will make it possible to determine the entire result within a very short time after the closing of the polls.

As it is expected that a heavy vote will be polled this fall it will be well for all voters who can to become familiar with the machine before election day, in order that work may be facilitated at that time.

TOWNSEND AT HAMILTON FAIR

Senatorial Candidate Will Speak There October 12.

The assurance is given that Hon. Charles E. Townsend of Jackson, congressman from the second district, will be present and deliver an address at the Hamilton fair on the afternoon of October 12. Mr. Townsend will remain at the fair until late in the afternoon, leaving there for Niles where he will speak in the evening. Mr. Townsend is a noted orator and his presence is bound to prove one of the most attractive features of the fair.

The fair committee has also issued an invitation to Hon. Charles Kimmerle of Cassopolis, democratic candidate for governor, to speak the same afternoon, and it is expected that Mr. Kimmerle will accept.

AUTOMOBILE TOUR OF COUNTY

Such a Trip Included in the Republican Campaign Plans.

The republican county committee held a meeting in Hartford last Saturday to lay plans for the active work of the campaign. Capt. N. F. Simpson outlined a plan for bringing several of the state and county nominees in touch with the voters of the county, and he was authorized to consummate the plans if possible. Mr. Simpson left for Lansing yesterday to perfect the arrangements.

This plan consists of an automobile tour of the county, during which nearly all of the villages will be visited. Governor Warner, Hon. P. H. Kelley and congressman E. L. Hamilton, together with several other state and county officials, will be guests upon the trip and will deliver addresses at the various stopping places. Capt. Simpson is sanguine that these officials can be induced to make the trip through Van Buren, and hopes to be able to make a full announcement of the matter within a few days.

Kelley's Signature.

The publisher was called upon a few days ago to take the affidavit of a Hamilton township director to a school report and next to the signature of the superintendent of public instruction following a list of instructions the director had written, "Please sign your name so that a Philadelphia lawyer can read it." He had addressed the envelope to Patrick N. Heeley and it surely did look it as much as anything.

Inability to write, however, seems to cause the Hon. P. H. Kelley but little trouble, he keeps on climbing the ladder of fame and probably no citizen of Michigan in public life today is better known or enjoys greater respect of his constituents.—Deatur Republican.

FRANK WARREN

From the State Capital

Information and Gossip Furnished by Special Correspondent at Lansing.

Lansing.—Lansing educators will take part as usual in the coming meeting of the state Teachers' association at Battle Creek to be held in conjunction with a general state institute called by Superintendent of Public Instruction Kelley. While Lansing schools have not been ordered closed it is believed the number from here in attendance will be usually large. The dates for the convention are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 25-27. At one of the general sessions Friday, Hon. H. R. Patingill and Deputy Superintendent French will discuss the subject of needed school legislation in Michigan. Principal N. B. Sloan, of the high school, is chairman of the high school section, and one of the papers before that section will be read by H. E. Gardner, of this city, on "Essentials and Non-essentials of Geometry." Superintendent W. D. Stebbins will take part in the discussions of the school board section. In the primary section, Miss Lois Wilson will read a paper on "Primary Reading." Miss Frances J. Squires is secretary of the kindergarten section and Miss Gertrude Camp of the drawing section. The programme for the meeting is just out. Among its features will be: Report of a commission on a uniform course of study for grades; addresses of Hon. N. C. Shafer, of Pennsylvania, on "Training in Morals in Public Schools," and on "The High School Problem;" Prof. Vincent, of Chicago university, on "Psychology of the Child-Growth;" Mrs. Versus Talbot, in "Education;" Miss Laura Fisher, of Boston, on the "Educative Value of Kindergarten Methods;" Col. S. J. Parsons, of O. A. T. of Illinois, on "The Kindergarten and the Country School;" Principal Waldo, of the Westland school, on "Health and Efficiency in School Legislation;" and a paper on "The school board's question of dividing the half-cent taxes from the primary fund."

State Work Is Slowed.
The delay in the passage of the act on the part of the state board of education has caused the state work to be slowed down. The act which would have provided for the state board of education is a well-considered measure. It was intended to know the cash value of the tax in view of the high cost of the act and the state's administrative and successful years. The amount of money received by the state from the general government in 1890 and succeeding years and the rate of interest each year since 1890, and actual receipts of the state and state institutions outside of the tax levy during the Winans' administration and since 1890.

Dispute Over Primary Vote.
The vote for congressman by Kent county at its primary on September 11 is open to attack. The other counties of the district voted on the day prescribed in the general primary law, September 4, but Kent waited until its own county primary, a week later. The notice that the primary should be held September 4 was given to the secretary of state, but was discontinued. The vote cast on September 11 is considered illegal.

Blamed for Linemen's Death.
The Michigan State Telephone company was blamed in a verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of Burton W. Evans, line foreman, who was electrocuted on a pole. It was declared that the company should have taken better care that its wires did not sag onto the lightning wires where they cross. Evans' shock was received through a telephone wire that came into contact with a city lightning wire.

Socialists Nominate Ticket.
Saginaw Socialists have nominated a full county ticket and Benjamin R. Cushman for mayor and Albert Eynon for state senator. Cushman is endorsed by the labor party. The prohibitionists named a full county and legislative ticket with William A. Hearst, of Caro, for congress.

C. G. Wing Nominated.
C. G. Wing, president of the Ludington State bank, was nominated by the Democrats of the Ninth district at Ludington, for congress, to oppose James C. McLaughlin. Charles H. Kimmerle attended the meeting and spoke.

Childs to Coach Lansing.
The resignation of Fred B. Close as coach of the Lansing high school eleven, has been accepted, and Harold Childs has been appointed his successor. Close has coached the high school team for eight years and is regarded as one of the best in the state.

State to Banish Quack Doctors.
The state board of examiners in medicine plans a crusade against quacks. The particular marks are said to be alleged "wonder doctors" who work in connection with licensed physicians, the latter of whom sign certificates in case of death. Doctors who do nothing worse than write a prescription in Latin for a man who is terribly ill with a white coating on the tongue and cause him to pay 50 cents at the drug store for some sugar coated pellets, will not be placed under the ban.

Christian Endeavor Convention.
For the State Christian Endeavor convention, to be held in Lansing, November 1 to 4, the provisional programme gives promise of a very helpful convention. The first public meeting occurs Thursday evening, November 1, when President Chamberlain, of Detroit, will deliver his message, and Rev. E. B. Allen the convention address. Friday's sessions begin with the Bible study and quiet hour led by Rev. Mr. Allen, and the first of a series of such studies conducted by him during the first hour of each day. This is followed by the Workers' institute in charge of C. H. Hubbell, of Ohio, and the business sessions with reports of the state officers. In the afternoon Miss Glenn will preside over a conference on missionary methods, and a practical demonstration of a mission study class, and then follows the rallies of the various denominations. The evening session includes a conference on the local societies and its works, led by Mr. Hubbell. A brief talk by Rev. J. A. Dunkel, of Saginaw, and an address by Rev. Mr. Bissel, a former missionary to India. On Saturday William Shaw, of Boston, will lead the institutes, taking up several topics of interest to all Endeavorers. The district rallies will be held and the Junior rallies will be conducted by Miss Parsons, of Kalamazoo. In the afternoon, Mr. Shaw and Miss Glenn will speak in the evening, and the election of officers will also take place at this session. Sunday will begin with Mr. Allen's quiet hour and include regular church services with Endeavor speakers, and mass meetings for men and women in the afternoon, regular Endeavor services with delegate leaders at six o'clock, and the convention will close in the evening with a special song and praise service, an address and a Christian Endeavor benediction. During the three days of the convention there will be several special features, such as a display of missionary literature and one of strictly Christian Endeavor publications. A reunion of Michigan delegates to the international convention at Baltimore last year will be held and a banquet of the Veterans' union, an organization which includes many of the past and present officers of local societies and local county, district and state unions.

Veterans Have Reunion.
The meeting of the twelfth annual reunion of company D, Fourteenth Michigan Infantry, which company, during the war of the rebellion, was known as the Lansing Rangers, was held in the G. A. R. hall, and was attended by 30 of the original 110 members of the company, many of them being accompanied by their wives. It is planned to reorganize the old regimental association and to hold a large meeting in this city in about one year. Officers of the company association were elected: President, Hiram Griffin, of East Rapids; vice president, Chris. Hayner, of Rockford; secretary and treasurer, Henry W. Newson, of Grand Ledge.

State Teachers Association.
The next meeting of the Michigan State Teachers' association will be held at Battle Creek during the three days beginning October 25. Under the law teachers are entitled to their time and compensation if they attend the state institute which has been called for the same time and place, but it was stated that there was only a small percentage of teachers who would attend, and it was decided not to close the Lansing schools. Teachers who desire to go may do so.

Named by Saginaw Democrats.
Saginaw county Democrats nominated D. M. Hunter, of Burt, a well-known farmer and merchant, for senator, and Henry J. Zacharias and Edward W. Courtenay for the legislature. Eugene A. Snow won over L. T. Durand for the nomination for circuit judge to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Snow's brother, the late Judge Byron H. Snow.

Gubernatorial Candidates Work.
Gov. Warner has begun an active campaign and dates are being rapidly filled for him by the state central committee. P. H. Kelley and Congressman Sam Smith will accompany him. Charles H. Kimmerle, Democratic candidate for governor, is campaigning every day.

Universalist State Convention.
The state convention of Universalist churches will be held in this city on October 10, 11 and 12, and a programme is being prepared for the entertainment of the visitors by the ladies' society.

Benefits General Fund.
Penalties exacted from Michigan railroads for failure to pay their taxes during the pendency of litigation, will yield the state a million and a quarter dollars, aside from the magnificent fund that will be distributed to the schools. It is generally understood this money will be placed to the credit of the general fund, although the legality of it is yet to be passed upon by Attorney General Bird. Unless it is appropriated by the next legislature it will materially reduce taxation.

MICHIGAN EVENTS NOTED

MRS. DOWIE SAYS SHE IS DONE WITH ELIJAH II. FOR ALL TIME.

THEN ELIJAH II. LAUGHED
Brings Suit to Set Aside Two Deeds She Says She Was Forced to Give the Prophet.

Parted Forever.
In an interview Mrs. Jane Dowie, wife of John Alexander Dowie, "Elijah II.," said that she and her husband are completely estranged and that under no circumstances will she ever go back to him. She politely says he belongs to the "down-and-out club." Gladstone, her son, sides with her.

Mrs. Dowie waxes very warm when she says her husband is mentioned. She says he is only a big humbug and fraud and that at the very zenith of his power he would often laugh and remark, "How easy those people in my congregation are."

Mrs. Dowie has brought suit in Muskegon to set aside two deeds to Dowie's former retreat at White Lake, known as Ben MacDhui. She charges that she executed the deeds as the result of undue influence.

Dowie recently declared publicly that he had not known a moment's happiness with his wife for 25 years, as she was certainly nagging him. Mrs. Dowie charges that he even threatened suicide if she refused to do his bidding.

Their trouble is said to have really begun a year ago last summer, when they were living at Ben MacDhui. Dowie suddenly left the retreat and Mrs. Dowie says that a few days later her husband's agents came to her with the demand that she deed over the retreat to her husband. She says that they threatened Dowie would secure a divorce, publicly scandalize her and depose her from the church. Under this pressure, she says, she signed the deeds, although certain Dowie had no grounds for divorce.

Can you win? You realize that to win in anything these days, requires strength, with mind and body in tune. A man or woman with disordered digestive organs is not in shape for a day's work or a day's play. How can they expect to win? Kodol For Dyspepsia contains the digestive juices of a healthy stomach and will put your stomach in shape to perform its important functions of supplying the body and brain with strength building blood. Digests what you eat, relieves indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Sold by G. T. Chamberlain.

Boomer's Dream.
It was a lovely dream that D. A. Boomer, Michigan Central night operator at the Jackson junction, had when he thought or professed to think that he had been assaulted by three bold, bad highwaymen, just as Lloyd A. Dynes, of Gallien, and Harry Armstrong, of Ward's Crossing, had, but alas! his dream is over.

Detectives of the Michigan Central reported after a full investigation that Boomer had tried to work a bluff in order to get a day job. They say he wasn't assaulted at all and that the crime, which was heralded as a counterpart of the Dynes and Armstrong assaults, was but the creation of his fertile mind.

Boomer has lost his job, even the night one.
Restored by X-Ray.
Unable to understand why his 3-year-old daughter, Paula, had suddenly been deprived of both speech and hearing, the Rev. Edward L. Bartke, pastor of the German Lutheran church of Florence, had an X-ray examination made, disclosing the fact that one-half of a peanut had found lodgement near the left eardrum and was pressing against the membrane. The nut, which showed signs of decomposition, was removed, and the child is recovering the use of these senses. The child had either sufficed the nut up through the nose, or the nut had become imbedded in the ear and had worked its way to the point whence it was abstracted.

When a horse is so overworked it lies down and in other ways declares its inability to go further, you would consider it criminal to use force. Many a man of human impulses, who would not willingly harm a kitten, is guilty of cruelty where his own stomach is concerned. Overdriven, overworked, when what it needs is something that will digest the food eaten and help the stomach to recuperate. Something like Kodol For Dyspepsia that is sold by G. T. Chamberlain.

A number of Owosso and Corunna business men are going to appeal to the wholesale houses of Detroit for help in inducing the Grand Trunk to run another train into Detroit.

The history of the University of Michigan from 1837 to 1906, a work commenced by Prof. B. A. Hinsdale and completed after his death by Prof. Denison, has just been printed.

Miss Katherine King, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Harry E. King, of the University of Pekin, has entered the University of Michigan. They were rescued from Pekin by a vessel at the time of the Boxer uprising.

If an article is limited, the original is always best. Think it over, and when you go to buy that box of salve to keep around the house, get DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the original and the name is stamped on every box. Good for eczema, tetter, boils, cuts and bruises and especially for piles. Sold by G. T. Chamberlain.

He Denies It.
C. A. Boomer, Michigan Central operator at the lonely telegraph station east of the junction, whose reported assault was declared to have been a ruse to relieve himself of night work and get another job through a play on the sympathy of railroad officials, says the stories to this effect are unqualifiedly false. Boomer says he has not been discharged, that he resigned at the solicitation of his wife and was notified to report for duty last night.

Alleged Fraud.
The United States has begun suit to recover $4,000 pension money from Henry Loucks, of Carson City. It is charged that, although Loucks enlisted in Co. K, Twenty-first Michigan, he fought his way only as far south as Bowling Green, Ky., and that he deserted and lived in Canada till the close of the war. He applied for a pension in 1880 and convinced the pension officers that the entry "deserted" against his name was incorrect. He was granted a $6 pension, which was later increased, but has now been altogether stopped. His $800 farm in Montcalm county is attached.

Eight Hundred Killed.
Hundreds of lives were endangered by fire which broke out in the North Kearsarge branch of the Osceola Consolidated mine in the eighteenth level of No. 1 shaft. The alarm was spread and the miners made a mad rush for the drifts connecting with No. 3 to the northward. They were then hoisted to the surface. Both shafts are sealed airtight and the only method of combating the flames is to cut off the supply of air and smother the fire. Nearly 800 men are thrown out of work.

REV. H. L. POTTER, of Dowagiac, has declined the democratic nomination for state senator from the Cass-Berrien district. His declination is sufficiently emphatic to leave no doubt as to where the reverend gentleman stands. He says:

"I could not accept this or any other nomination at the hands of the democratic party. I have always been a republican. I shall live a republican and I expect to die a republican."

A considerable flurry among the democratic leaders of the district, who consented to Mr. Potter's nomination because Coy Hendryx, the Dowagiac attorney, and Abner Moon, the able editor of the Dowagiac Herald, insisted that Rev. Potter had experienced a change of heart politically and was ripe for overtures from the democratic camp, has followed the announcement. But apparently the past political affiliations of Messrs. Hendryx and Moon have been such they are not qualified to reach accurate conclusions from a ministerial standpoint.

At any rate, the refusal of Rev. Potter is exactly what Hartford people, who are thoroughly acquainted with that able gentleman, expected he would do.

An exchange calls attention to the fact that "it took democratic candidate Kimmerle just five minutes to say that the state university had too much money, that the professors were over paid, or that the money was not carefully expended—or something of that sort. At any rate he has been unusually busy for the past five or six weeks explaining just what he did say." Michigan people are proud of the standing of their chief educational institution, and in view of its past achievements they are loth to believe that public money has been wasted in its maintenance. They will look askance at any proposition which looks to the curtailing of its usefulness and influence, whether that proposition comes from candidate Kimmerle or from any other source.

An anonymous contributor in the Gobleville News takes up the cudgel for the "independent" county ticket, and presents "arguments" of the same character advanced by a majority of the supporters of that movement—the mere wail of "machine" and a volley of billingsgate against those who have failed to take up the fight to land a disappointed candidate in office. Nothing is easier to raise than a cry of "machine" and "ring" but when it comes to submitting the slightest atom of proof they appear to be as helpless as infants. Nothing has as yet been cited to give the charges a live reality, and it is safe to say that there can not be. We do not know who this contributor is, so can not say what office, if any, he was defeated for.

Prohibition Convention.

The Prohibitionists of Van Buren county are hereby called to meet in mass convention at the town hall, Hartford, Tuesday, Oct. 9, at 2 p. m. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various county offices and transacting such other business as may properly come before the convention.

State chairman, Wm. A. Taylor, will be present and address the convention.

All citizens without regard to past party affiliations who purpose to support the Prohibitionist ticket and county tickets are cordially invited to be present as members of the convention.

In announcing its entrance into the thirty-sixth year of its career the Hartford Day Spring says: "We have no flowery promises to hold forth for the future—such extemporaneous explosions of self-praise as many newspapers are wont to indulge in upon similar occasions," and then gushes forth in a column editorial telling of its importance. The inconsistent statement, however, will be forgiven, for the Day Spring can "make good"—it is a newspaper in every sense of the word and a credit to its bustling editor, Don F. Cochrane.—Coloma Courier.

The Hartford Day Spring closed its thirty-fifth year last week, and despite its age is one of the liveliest and best of the VanBuren county weeklies. Bro. Cochrane knows how to get up a good local paper and his continued success indicates that his patrons appreciate his efforts.—Allegan Press.

The Hartford Day Spring closed the 35th year of its usefulness Wednesday of last week. And it's a good paper yet, in spite of its age.—Covert Free Press.

Last week the Hartford Day Spring entered upon its 35th year of its existence. It is enjoying prosperity, and deserves it.—Dowagiac Herald.

Danger from the Plague.

There's grave danger from the plague of coughs and colds that are so prevalent unless you take Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. Mrs. Geo. Walls, of Forest City, Me., writes: "It's a godsend to people living in climates where coughs and colds prevail. I find it quickly ends them." It prevents pneumonia, cures La-grippe, gives wonderful relief in asthma and hay fever, and makes weak lungs strong enough to ward off consumption, coughs and colds. 50c and $1. Guaranteed at G. T. Chamberlin's drug store. Trial bottle free.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your house and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by Engle & Woolsey.

The Week's Doings in Hartford and Vicinity

Warren N. Gilbert is Dead.

Warren N. Gilbert died at his home northwest of Hartford last Friday after a rather extended illness, aged 88 years.

Mr. Gilbert was born in Onondaga county, New York, October 10, 1817. He lived in New York until 1852, with the exception of a short time spent in Pennsylvania, when he came to Wood county, Ohio, where he remained until April, 1865. He then came to Michigan and settled on the farm in the southeast corner of Bangor township where he lived with one brother and a sister until his death. Like the brother and sister with whom he resided, Mr. Gilbert never married.

He was the oldest of a family of ten children, six sisters and four brothers all of whom have passed away except the two with whom he resided. Mr. Gilbert was of a quiet, unassuming disposition, and to know him was to respect him. He had filled several offices of trust during his life.

The funeral was conducted from his late home last Sunday, Elder L. J. Branch of Bangor officiating, and was largely attended. Interment took place in the Thomas cemetery.

Brief Mention.

Jud Flaharty has leased the George Webster house on east Main street.

George Webster is moving into the Wm. Webster house on east Main street.

Mrs. C. B. Whitcomb was again taken to the asylum at Kalamazoo Monday.

Otho Ford has returned from South Haven, where he has been employed the past summer.

O. C. Draper, of Enderlin, N. Dakota, was a guest of his brother, T. W. Draper, over Sunday.

Clare Shepard, of Enderlin, N. Dakota, is spending a couple of weeks with Hartford relatives.

E. S. Young, of Waukegan, Ill., is a guest of his son, N. E. Young, northwest of town, this week.

G. W. Ocobock takes space in this issue to announce his stock of new fall goods. Read what he says.

S. M. Carpp has a new ad this week—and it's worthy a perusal.

John Robinson is exhibiting his Percheron stallion, Jasper, 26253, at the Benton Harbor fair this week.

Sporting and athletic goods are the subject of Wm. Bennett & Sons' new ad this week. They always carry a full stock.

J. P. Kohn, who purchased the Robert Young farm west of town, has raised his house, added a new porch and otherwise improved it.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hinckley, of Kalamazoo, have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Hinckley this week. In company with the latter they went to Chicago yesterday.

As one indignant citizen expressed it, "a multitude of chickens are abroad in the land." He also said he was looking for a stimulant to stir the village ordinance relative thereto into activity.

A. W. Olds, the north side druggist, has a new ad in this issue announcing the addition of a complete line of the famous Bradley & Vrooman paints to his stock. Mr. Olds will also add a complete line of wall paper.

Dr. Fred White of Atlanta, Ga., is spending a month's vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. White. Mr. White is associated in a dental practice at Atlanta with Dr. Kent, who will be remembered by many Hartford people as a former resident here.

Five millionaires took dinner together at Mrs. Maggie Hughes' restaurant last Saturday—rather an unusual circumstance in a town of Hartford's size. Of course, they were as well satisfied as are folks of lesser means with the sumptuous fare afforded.

The examination of James Eagan, arrested on complaint of L. E. McGowan & Son of Lawrence, as before noted in these columns, and which was called before Justice Rowland at Paw Paw last Friday, was again adjourned until tomorrow (Thursday.)

You will find it decidedly to your advantage to call and get the Day Spring's clubbing list before selecting your reading matter for the ensuing year. We can furnish you any paper, daily, weekly or semi-weekly, or any magazine that you may wish, and save you money on the transaction.

Louis Kime has the walls partly up for a new cement house just north of the James Ingalls residence on North Center street. The plans give the assurance that, when completed, it will be a welcome addition to the pretty residences adorning the thoroughfare.

It is said that the claims of the Pottawatomie Indians to Chicago lake front property have been put in excellent shape by a syndicate of Chicago capitalists and attorneys, and that the fight for settlement is to be again renewed and carried to the court of last resort, if necessary.

The barn on the Emma Hart farm northwest of town was totally destroyed by fire Monday night, together with all its contents, consisting of hay, grain and farm tools. The contents were the property of the occupant of the farm, Harry Hart, who estimates his loss at $800 with an insurance of $700. The barn was 30x42 feet and was insured for $300, less than half its value.

Owing to the break in the Anderson mill dam, the water in the Paw Paw river has been lowered to such an extent that scores of fish of all sizes and species have been made captives in shallow mud holes along the banks and the river bed, and many of them have been captured by both boys and men in ways that bordered upon the ludicrous. Some would discard their clothing and invade the mirey holes to capture the fish in their hands, while others secured them with poles and spears.

Howland Place brought to the Day Spring office last week a branch of the "garden huckleberry," as it is called, which, though scarcely four feet long, contained nearly two quarts of berries. The berries are nearly as large as cherries and are said to rival the genuine huckleberry as a winter fruit, and to be easily raised. Mr. Place has been cultivating them for the past three years, and S. C. Lincoln has also raised a considerable quantity of them.

Charles Roosevelt, the well known Keeler farmer, raised 60 acres of beans this year which yielded 14 bushels to the acre or a total of nearly 900 bushels, says the Dowagiac Herald. He recently sold a car load at Decatur, and had some left. He also raised 70 acres of corn this year, which was a first class crop. Mr. Roosevelt has a farm of 400 acres, 80 acres being in timber. He pastures a flock of 100 sheep which sheared for him ten pounds of wool per head this season.

A special meeting of the common council was held Monday evening at which representatives of the Kibble Telephone company were present and stated that during the recent stringing of electric light wires about the town for street lighting purposes their telephone wires were crossed in several instances, and that they considered the situation a dangerous one. The council, accompanied by representatives of both the electric light and telephone companies, made a tour of inspection yesterday in an endeavor to remedy the difficulty.

In the case instituted in Justice Chandler's court against Rev. H. A. Lyon, pastor of the local M. E. church, for whom a warrant was issued last week on complaint of E. C. Lawrence, charging slander, an amicable understanding has been reached and the affair has been dropped by mutual consent. As noted in our last issue, the action resulted from an apparent misunderstanding over some church funds and the Day Spring is indeed pleased to be able to announce so fortunate a termination of the matter.

Good Advice.

From the large number of local orchards in which the San Jose scale has recently been found, it is clearly evident that those of our growers of fruit who desire to remain in the business will have to at once begin to arrange for the winter spraying of their trees, preferably with the lime and sulphur mixture. A large steam boiler for cooking the spray is necessary and the most economical and practical plan for ordinary small growers is for about a dozen in a neighborhood to club together, erect one central plant and then hire an experienced man to take charge, each grower paying the expense in proportion to the amount of the mixture used. Growers who fail to spray and thus control the scale will lose their orchards within the next five years, the supply of fruit will thus be greatly lessened, those who have fruit will get fancy prices and the fruit growing business will be very profitable—for those who spray thoroughly, at the proper time, with the proper mixtures.—Fennville Herald.

"DO IT TO-DAY!"

"And to think that ten months ago I looked like this. I owe it to German Syrup."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it to-day—and let that remedy be Dr. Bessche's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

THE MAN ON THE MOUNTAIN TOP
By SARA LINDSAY COLEMAN

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The morning he had dropped down beside her, as she sat aloof from the hospital inmates in her special corner of the portico, he was awaiting directions for his day's tramp.

She had suddenly felt herself a ghost chained to a walking couch, but with strength still left to creep into the sunshine and watch the passing of this vivid, eager-eyed, sun-browned young woodsman.

His eyes had paid irresistible tribute to the wistful glance from her eyes, and when he left, the violets that he held in his hand as he waited, toying with them idly, lay on the chair beside her. Vaguely moved and feeling that something in each had crossed the bar of sunlight that lay on the floor between them and touched in greeting, she had lifted the frail woodland violets and pinned them on her gown.

Impelled by he hardly knew what impulse, the doctor of the mountain-top hospital had been watching Miss Carleton as she read a letter. For a month he had been watching her. Women were not much in his line—he hated the symptoms they poured over him and fled from them, and their loquacity—but the silence of this woman who asked no questions but sat day after day, her listless hands folded, her listless eyes on the shining ropes that lost themselves in the sky, irritated him.

Miss Carleton laughed—a low little laugh.

The doctor looked at her dumbly. He hadn't heard her laugh before, and he wanted to say that he had been feeling odd that the gray hairs thickening in his dark mustache had depressed him vaguely; but that it was all a mistake; that he was deliciously young; bubbling with youth and buoyancy since—since a moment before when she had laughed.

"Violets," the doctor said maybe two weeks later. "Aren't they coming pretty often? The women here say you get them every day. I'm glad they're interested in your affairs—anything is better for them than tending over those sterner guests they eschew."

"To wear in heaven," Miss Carleton sang in saucily.

"And it is heaven and earth talking to them—I can't hear a word of talking enough. I'd rather hear about letters that come every day; rather small violets."

But Miss Carleton was gone.

"You're laughing," she complained to the violets, having reached the whom he didn't idealize," he said. "He didn't know he loved her at first. The whole sweep of his life was away from women. But this girl was so lonely, so pathetic somehow, that he found himself writing these letters to her almost before he knew it. He had an idea, a theory—he was a great chap for theories—and he kept himself in the background. He asked nothing of the girl. He—"

"He blundered!" she cried. "Suppose the woman had never had a lover; suppose the sweep of her life had been away from men, that she had been so busy that she had never thought of one until she got those letters."

"Child!" the doctor spoke sharply. "Suppose through the whole long wonderful summer-time she had reared her Joy castle, at first afraid it would vanish like the bubbles she had blown in childhood, until she had come to believe in the writer of those letters with the same terrible, childlike faith she gave to her God—"

"Child, child," the doctor implored her.

With a little unsteady laugh Miss Carleton got to her feet. "How that big moon stares," she said. "Wouldn't you like to climb on its chin and sail to your Heart's Desire? Haven't you a land of Heart's Desire, doctor?" She leaned and looked deep into the moon-filled, sleeping valleys as she spoke.

The doctor tried to answer. He drew back into the shadows as she said good-night. He had seen a woman's soul, and the sight had shaken him.

Not many days later a fairy-tale happening came to Mary Carleton in the shape of a telegram that told her of the death of an old great-uncle and the arrival of a fortune, all in a breath.

The doctor came back from the valley settlement, where he had been visiting a patient, to hear the story and slip away from everybody. In the quiet of his den, with the little fire on the hearth fighting the growing dusk, he tried to realize what life would be with the glory gone out of it. A log broke and fell, shattering his reverie. The fire leaped, and she came swiftly down the room to drop into a chair beside him and nestle there as if she meant to stay indefinitely.

"It has been a discipline—waiting for that fortune," she said cheerfully. "Many's the time I've defied fate with it when I've been so hungry. Cocoa and toast for breakfast, toast and cocoa for lunch and my great-uncle's fortune for dinner. How the money has changed things," in sudden gaiety.

"I'm not going to ride on the moon's shin. It wouldn't be dignified for an heiress."

"Don't you ever mean to grow up?"

The doctor's lips twitched in a way that would have gone straight to a woman's heart if she had loved him.

"I'm grown up," contentedly. "I'm—"

"And I'm not less than 15 more," miserably.

"Are you?" politely. "I could never do arithmetic." The laughing shaft of her dark eyes struck straight into the middle of a heart that wasn't aging, and the blood that wasn't jaded, although the doctor had tried so hard to think so, pounded and leaped, hot and strong.

The doctor caught her hand in a grasp that hurt her.

"I've been a brute," he cried. "I saw that fellow leave the violets there, and it came to me to try the experiment. I believed to interest you in anything, anybody, was to save you. There was no other way to woo you back to life. I saw no other way. Child, child, I never meant to hurt you! That first little letter—heart-broken that you'd had to let go and come away from your work—touched me. You know the rest. I've tried to tell you a hundred times. As it was I felt that I had struck you—had struck a little, trusting child."

He flung out his hands in tortured helplessness. "Say something! Comfort me—if comfort is left in the world!"

But there was silence in the room the twilight had claimed.

The doctor's head went down. He had a new strange sense of utter desolation.

"Don't you understand yet? There's no man in the valley. There never was. I wrote those letters. I sent those violets. To save your very life."

A low little laugh had shattered the room's tense stillness and rippled over him.

"But," her voice, very small and shamed and golden with content, whispered, as she came close, close, till the marvelous softness of her cheek brushed his, "but—since yesterday I've known—there's one—on the mountain-top."

"SENDING ME BACK!"

safety of her own room. "I never meant to do it. I didn't care, really I didn't; if the valley brimmed over with men who wanted to make me less lonely. But I couldn't resist you. I had to write a wee note when you came—and then—You may put your naughty faces together and laugh if you like. It's just that I'm lonely," she whispered. "It's unbearable, the loneliness—since I no longer have my work. I wonder?"

June came and drifted away; July was ushered in; the summer rested on the mountain-top like a full tide that has no ebb, and, as day followed day, wheeling on, more than one mountain-top dweller saw the change in Miss Carleton.

"How strong she is growing; how beautiful," they would say as she passed. And it was true. Under the influence of the letters that were laid at her plate morning after morning, from a man whose very name was unknown to her, for he signed himself simply, "The Man in the Valley," her nature was sweetening, seeding at its core for larger, dearer life.

"Did you ever write letters to a woman you idealized, Dr. Herbert?"

"In my Lochivar days, Miss Carleton," the doctor said.

"And did something come between you? And did it hurt so? Is that why you left a big city practice and came 5,000 feet up to minister to ugly coughs?"

"No," said the doctor, gravely. "I had a better reason. Isn't making you well and sending you back reason enough for my being here?"

"Sending me back?" in sudden terror. "But I'm not going! I ate my heart out to go back when I came, but now—now—"

When the silence grew heavy between them the doctor spoke again. "I once knew a chap who wrote letters to a woman—a white slip of a woman

COUNTRY OF COW PUNCHER.

Life in a Little Town in the Untamed Land Out West.

On all sides of the little town lay the glorious sweep of untamed country. To find another railroad to the northward was to ride 150 miles to the Canadian Pacific, to find a railroad to the southwest meant as long a ride to the Northern Pacific, says Outing. On the ridge of the town a freighters' outfit was making ready to pull out four days to a camp near the Little Rockies. Ten horses led the string of laden wagons, behind which trailed the covered chuck-wagon, equipped for sleeping and cooking, for there were no hotels on this route.

The boss and his two helpers were wrestling with a broncho which, until this ill-fated day, had never felt a harness across his back. He was needed as an off-wheeler, and he had to go. He fought like a hero, possessed of seven devils, and three men toiled for an hour to get him into the traces and to keep clear from his infernally active heels.

At length his nine comrades jumped into their collars and the rebel simply had to go with them. He lay down and was dragged on his ear until his addled wits perceived there was nothing in this sort of mutiny. He rose and slid stiff-legged until, outnumbered, outtraced and outgeneraled, he surged into the collar like a thunder-bolt and thereafter tried to pull the whole load in the vain hope of tearing something out by the roots.

The long string of horses and wagons wound out into the open country and in a little while dipped across a grassy undulation and was gone. A swirl of dust marked its progress for several miles, this plodding caravan, with its tanned and bearded men, unlettered and slow of speech, used to living out under the sky, seeing few of their kind. It was thus the pioneers crossed the plains a half century ago.

Don't Be Imposed Upon.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. G. T. Chamberlin.

Would Not Be Bossed.

That there is a startling difference between the temper of the rising generation and that of the youth whose young ideas shot up according to the teachings of Mrs. Hannah More and Sanford and Meriton has recently been proved by a little seven-year-old girl, who was laboriously spelling her way through a reading lesson.

"Always speak the truth," she said, "and obey your parents."

"Be gentle and quiet. Never slam the doors and shout and scream about the house."

"At the table eat slowly; not in a greedy manner like a pig."

Suddenly the little girl shut the book with a pertentious bang, and announced with firmness and decision: "I'm not going to let any old third reader boss me like that!"

Why the Fare Was Simple.

A traveler in the mountains of North Carolina stopped at a cabin to obtain a meal, which, when served, consisted of the inevitable "side meat an' corn-bread." The traveler had observed a great deal of game as he passed along the road, and seeing a shotgun in the cabin, remarked that it would seem that they might add to their bill of fare with but little trouble.

"That's so, stranger," the mountaineer drawled; "an' we all do generally hev right smart game. Would hev had some pottages terday of Bub hadn't been sleh or fool. He went huntin' 'yistiddy, an' shot off one bar'l' of ther gun, an' then blowed into ther muzzle ter clear out ther nipple."

A Card.

This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. Cures La grippe cough and prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. G. T. Chamberlin.

Interesting Historical Documents.

The collection of historical documents in the British museum is the largest, the most important and the most interesting ever gathered. The earliest letters on exhibition were written by Alfred the Great.

Makes Homely Women Pretty.

No woman no matter how regular her features may be can be called pretty if her complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup aids digestion and clears sallow blotched complexions by stimulating the liver and bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not purgative or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Remember the name, Orino, and refuse to accept any substitute. G. T. Chamberlin.

Premature Death.

At Utica, N. Y., a young man dropped dead in a restaurant just after giving his order. If he had fallen a corpse after getting the check it would have been easily understood.

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Thimble.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt rejoices in the possession of a veritable thimble of that excellent needlewoman, Queen Elizabeth.

College Men in Gold Fields.

College men fairly swarm in the gold camps, and many of them flocked in as soldiers of fortune.

"Soom fool threw a football into the middle of the main street of Goldfield one day," said a prospector. "Then he gave a college yell, and 20 men piled out of the stores and hotels and saloons so fast you couldn't count 'em. They lined up without anybody's giving the word, and played a game right on the jump. They clean wore that football out in no time."

While the college-bred man may find only disappointment and hardship in such a stormy tide of life as this, he quits it, at any rate, with a new respect for mankind, a bed-rock democracy of viewpoint and a stock of elemental courage and self-reliance. For there is this to be said of the men of the desert and mountains, that they know how to take defeat with a smile for the future and a firmer set of the jaw for the present. While there are prodigal and foolish deeds among the few who find bewildering wealth in the earth, a finer wealth of manhood is developed in the hearts of the many who fail to find that which they seek. —Outing Magazine.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it, and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well." G. T. Chamberlin.

Trading with Japan.

There is a probability of Argentina and Brazil supplanting Australia in the trade with Japan so far as the supply of foodstuffs is concerned. Not only has the Japanese government granted a subsidy to a Japanese-South American line, but the immigration of Japanese workers to South America is also to be encouraged, especially to Brazil, where a Japanese bank is to be established.

Flattering 'o Courier.

When Beatrice of England was eight years old she made some cakes and offered them to Lady Ely and others of the court at Windsor. They refused. "Very well," she said, much annoyed at their refusal, "as Dr. Stanley is not here, I shall give them to the donkey!" Dr. Stanley, to whom this doubtful compliment was paid, was, of course, the celebrated Dean Stanley, who was a great friend and favorite of the young princess.

True and tried friends of the family—DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Best for results and best to take. Rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes follow the use of these dependable little pills. They do not gripe or sicken. Sold by G. T. Chamberlin.

Golf or Croquet?

It was a twosome. The player who drove off first had bandy legs. The second in driving off did not notice that his opponent had got in front of him and the ball ran through between the opponent's legs. Turning around in anger the bandy legged one said: "Here, munn, that's no goit!" "Weel," said the other, "if it's no golf it's croquet."—Scottish Referee.

Beards as a Sign of Mourning.

In ancient Rome men only grew beards as a sign of mourning. In Egypt all went clean shaven, but in Assyria only the slaves and peasants shaved.

How They "Happened."

Tennyson, in "The Princess," coined a phrase and a maxim which seem destined to live long. The phrase is "The sweet girl-graduates," and the maxim, "This better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

Are you troubled with piles? One application of ManZan will give you immediate relief.

TWINS ARE IN TROUBLE.

Brothers Marry Sisters and Now All Want Divorces.

Kansas City, Mo.—During the 32 years that Jiles M. Farris and Miles J. Farris have been on earth their lives have been parallel.

They were born twins, grew to manhood, and married twin sisters in Louisiana, Mo.

Jiles M. became a barber, but here is where Miles J. deviated, for he became a butcher—not such a great difference, either, as Jiles M. expressed it.

To the families came a little Jiles M. and a little Miles J.; and now domestic troubles have disturbed both homes.

A petition for divorce was filed on Monday by Jiles M. against Martha A. Farris, and on Tuesday Miles J. Farris sued for a divorce from his wife, Attie.

Both petitions set forth desertion as the cause for seeking separation, and both charges show jealousy on the part of the wives.

Will Keep Eye on Congress.

New York.—Success, the magazine, has announced the formation of the "people's lobby," which is to watch congress next winter and see that it does nothing underhand. Mark Twain, William Allen White, Lincoln Steffens and others will be the people's lobbyists.

Steals Pies; Sent to Prison.

Sidney, Ia.—Charged with having stolen two cherry pies, Frank Pierce was sentenced to spend one year in the penitentiary. William Sommers, who confessed to eating part of one pie, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

UNWILLING GIFTS.

When Elder John Malvern, the well-known Free Baptist preacher, was a young man, in charge of the parish at Gilmanton, N. H., he was rewarded for his pastoral faithfulness by frequent gifts of farm produce. He once called on a rich but stingy parishioner. He praised his crops, and especially one variety of winter apple. As he got into his buggy, he again repeated his wish that he might have "some of those apples."

The farmer, wishing to get credit for generosity, said: "If you had a bag I'd fill it."

Much to the farmer's surprise, the elder drew from under his cushion a large bag, which the skintift filled, with evident lack of enthusiasm. Then, deeming himself safe, he added: "You could have more if you had another bag."

"Certainly, I have another bag," promptly answered the preacher, as he sprang out of the carriage and removed the old bag which he used under the saddle to prevent the horse from chafing his back. The second bag was loosely filled and the minister drove off, with no additional suggestion of more bags that might be filled.

Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar the original laxative cough syrup acts as a cathartic on the bowels. To Cure Neuralgia.

Here is a simple method of curing facial neuralgia: If the neuralgia is in the right side of the face the left hand should be placed in a basin of water as hot as can be borne. Or if neuralgia is in the left side of the face then the right hand should be placed in the hot water. It is asserted that in this way relief may be obtained in less than five minutes.—Indian Review.

A cold taken at this time of the year is generally hard to get rid of but it will not be able to withstand Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. That will cure all colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, etc., by driving them out through the bowels. If you have a cold, try it, and if not cured get your money back. No opiates. Sold by A. W. His Unique Uniform.

Probably no other tailor ever made such a diplomatic uniform as that in which the Egyptian consul paid a visit to the Turkish commandant during the recent boundary dispute between the countries represented by these two individuals. His uniform was a bathing suit, a turban for headgear and an umbrella to protect him from the sun.

"A SQUARE DEAL."

How President Roosevelt's Motto is Illustrated by Pepsikola.

Engle & Woolsey say Pepsikola Tablets is the best possible illustration of what our strenuous President means by a square deal. This remarkable remedy is sold to everybody with the express agreement that if it does not do exactly as represented the buyer's money will be cheerfully refunded. They are guaranteed to quickly relieve and permanently cure all stomach troubles, tone up the whole system, give new life and vigor, better courage, more vitality, and bring the weak, weary and despondent back to joyous health.

If they do not cure you of heartburn, sour stomach, loss of appetite, dizziness, headache, lassitude, and all other unpleasant conditions arising from indigestion, all you have to do is to step into Engle & Woolsey's drug store and they will pay your money back.

The price is only 25c if they cure. If they fail the cost is nothing. But they won't fail. They will tell you that dozens of people you know have been benefited and cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by Pepsikola Tablets, and they will give you a "square deal." No cure, no pay.

It is just one year on the first of this month since I opened up in the above business in Hartford a perfect stranger stating as to my ability and experiences. From the quantity of clocks, watches, jewelry and other repairs done by me personally besides the sales and the many friends I have made up to the present date and the satisfaction I have given is proof that I made no misrepresentations.

I respectfully return thanks to those who have trusted me with their trade and kindness up till now. I promise that I will endeavor with good work, fair prices, attention and respect I hope to retain the same patronage in the future as in the past with increase of sales as I believe I have the largest stock in the vicinity and will add to and increase my stock as requirements and circumstances will permit.

What articles are not in stock I will get on short notice. You will find my goods and prices quite as low, quality considered as can be had elsewhere.
I believe in buying and building up to the town and vicinity I am in.
I have seen no cause since I came to leave, therefore I intend to remain in Hartford.
