Paper Adopts New Type Face for Front Page

Automatic Typesetter Installed by Day Spring; Now Most Modern Weekly in Aren

With installation of automatic typesetting equipment, The Day Spring this week adopts a new type dress for its front page body type.

The installation is the second modernization step taken by The Day Spring in the last four months. A Ludlow typograph machine, which provided a new type face for headlines throughout the paper, was installed early in December.

The new type face for the front page is named Excelsior and matches the body type used elsewhere in the paper. It is a larger, more legible face than the Cheltenham which it replaces.

The automatic typesetting equipment which was installed this week, called Teletypesetter, replaces manual operation of the Linotype machine for producing all of the body type for the paper. Lewis Holtz of the Teletypesetter company began installa-tion of the equipment as soon as last week's edition was printed and has been here throughout the week instructing personnel in its use.

The Teletypesetter equipment includes two machines, a perforator and an operating unit. The perforator is an office machine with a keyboard similar to that of a typewriter. It punches holes in a continuous paper tape. Combinations of six holes produce all letters of the alphabet, numbers and punctuation marks, in addition to the various sizes of spaces used in a typesetting machine.

The perforated paper tape is fed automatically into the of Arating unit, which is attached to the typesetting machine. Small pins "read" the perforations in the tape and accordingly actuate the keys of the typesetting machine. The equipment provides more rapid and continuous operation of the Linotype than is possible man-

Installation of Teletypesetters is growing rapidly in weekly newpapers. The Day Spring is the fifth Michigan weekly to add the equipment since November. This newspaper now is the most highly mechanized weekly in southern Michigan, being the only one equipped with Ludlow, Teletypesetter and a web bress.

The new type face put into use today completes a modernization that has changed the typography of The Day Spring from an assortment of half a dozen type faces to one type for text matter and two type styles for headlines. To compare the new with the old, this story is set in the new type face. Following is a paragraph from last week's issue set in the former type

A FORDOMATIC FORD IS AUTOMATICALLY WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT

.. WHEN YOU SELL IT, TOO!

The new Ford 115-h.p. I-block Six whisks you along silently, smoothly, economically. Its deep-block build provides rigid crankshaft support for smoother, quieter operation. Low-friction design and high-turbulence combustion chambers mean more miles from less gas. And, thanks to the Six's higher compression and increased displacement, you get extra "GO" power at all speeds!

Fordomatic Drive shifts for you more smoothly than you could do it yourself, it's the only "automatic" in Ford's field to combine a fluid torque converter and an automatic intermediate gear. Should you ever need an extra burst of speed for passing or hill-climbing Fordomatic's intermediate gear takes over automatically when you step down on the accelerator.

You get a double-value power package when you buy a '54 Ford with the new I-block Six and versatile Fordomatic Drive.

This brilliant Ford engine-transmission combination brings you all the smoothness and flexibility of the finest no-shift driving combined with the extra economy that's built into the industry's most modern,

Tive Six. And, of short-stroke, overl course, you get ti th, level riding comfort, the easier ha g of Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension, a feature exclusive to Ford in its field.

Remember, too, a Ford Six with Fordomatic Drive is automatically worth more when it comes time for you to sell!

Cows Do Better

Vic Knapp, prominent East Hartford sportsman and prop. of the Hartford Dairy, hasn't had very good luck raising rabbits, and has been notorious for his misfortunes with deer, but he has done a lot better with cows.

Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that the cows have done a lot better by him. At any rate, as proof of his success, he is offering Hartford Dairy customers butter this weekend at the special bargain price of only 65 cents a pound. Now this is not ordinary butter, he pointed out, the first time that the Dairy has been able to bring this high-quality butter down to such a low

State's Farmers Getting Younger

The average age of Michigan larmers is going down, contrary, popular notions. A survey by E. B. Hill, Michigan State college gricultural economist, shows that he average age has declined almost one year in the last decade to 49.9 years.

Thirty-seven per cent of Michisan farmers now are less than 45 ears old, an increase of six per ent since 1940. The number of farmers more than 65 has remained at the same figure since 1930. The western half of the upper peninsula had the largest proportion of farmers older than 65.

The largest percentage of younger farmers is in the "Thumb" area of Michigan According to Hill's survey, the younger farmers operate the larger farms. The older farmers are still inclined toward the poultry farm.

budget problems with Dr. Raymond J. Murphy of Wayne's School of Business Administration who is moderator of a TV shew on "Stre bing" Your Dollars."

Homemakers spent about 230 fallion dollars last year on goods and services alone—three times the total federal budget of 1953; Few people realize that women own or control approximately of all savings accounts, 70% of all wealth and 80% of all consumer buying, says Dr. Raymond J. Murphy, associate professor of business law in the Wayne University School of Business Administration. Dr. Murphy, an experienced management counselor, moderates a series of programs designed to answer the average homemaker's practical questions about wise budgeting and investment over WJBK-TV, Detroit. Produced by the Wayne University television staff, the 15-minute shows are system must operate in every household that hopes to pay its bills and still come out ahead. No one can tell you exactly how you should spend your money, Dr. Murphy points cut. since no two families have the same expenses, but all must pay for food, clothing and housing. Dr. Murphy believes the first step in setting up a budget is to make an analysis of the family needs which should be agreed upon by the entire family. Next, the total anticipated income should be noted. Deduct from this the fixed expenses (housing, education, utilities, taxes, insurance, etc.); variable expenses (clothing, health, home furnishings, recreation, emergency funds, etc.); and day to day expenses (food, household supplies, entertainment, and transportation). The balance is the savings which
