New cherry market plan to be aired

LAWRENCE—A cherry marketing program will be discussed at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 2, at the bank community room here. Fred Pugsley, Paw Paw, director of the Michigan Association of Cherry Producers will be host.

Robert Frohling, executive secretary of the National Red Cherry institute, will discuss the new proposal as it applies to red tart cherries. Ted Stebbins, secretary of the Michigan Association of Cherry Producers, will review the mechanics of the program and its application to sweet cherries.

The program is proposed to allow for increased advertising, promotion and other marketing aids for cherries by increasing assessments and requiring all growers to participate. Grower members now pay $2 a ton and exemptions are allowable.

If put into effect, the new program would replace present advertising and promotion efforts of the Michigan Cherry commission. It would provide funds for more research into new products and would allow the commission to maintain a merchandising man to call on the trade to strengthen existing markets and develop new ones. A question and answer session will follow the speeches at Thursday night's meeting.

Man charged with Watervliet garage break-in

WATERVLIET—Barcy Rogers, 31, of Hartford, waived examination on a charge of breaking and entering when arraigned in St. Joseph Municipal court. He was charged in the Jan. 31 theft of more than $15,000 worth of tools from Brookfield Ford, Inc., at Watervliet.

Rogers was bound to Berrien circuit court for appearance March 6 and was released on $1,000 bond.

Meanwhile, three men arrested following a Feb. 10 break-in at Shank-Frick Chevrolet, Inc., at Lawrence pleaded guilty in Van Buren circuit court to breaking and entering. They were Norman Rogers, 23, brother of Barcy; Keiner Buckley, 27, and Hugh Vann, 27, all of Coloma.

After the arrest of the trio in the Lawrence break-in, state police of the South Haven post began recovering the tools which had been taken from the Brookfield garage. Nearly all of the missing tools were brought to the state police post. Many of the tools were personally towed by mechanics at the garage.

PAW PAW—A new asparagus picking machine will be on display at the Farm Bureau building west of Paw Paw on Tuesday, March 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The machine was invented by an Illinois farmer, Bernard Fuchs.

The new machine is said to do what many crop experts predicted no machine could do—be selective in operation, duplicating the decision-making process of hand labor. The Hart-Carter Co., of Peoria, Ill., which is manufacturing the machine, said that a few units will be available in Michigan this year.

Jacqueline Sue Drane, 109 Michigan, Hartford, was admitted to Mercy hospital with head and leg cuts. Lorelei Imbordino, also of Hartford, was treated for a cut foot and released. The soldier, Patrick Moore, 20, died later at Grand Rapids.

William Schweim, 20, and Ronald Oatsval, 20, both of St. Joseph, also were hurt in the crash. All the injured were occupants of a car which Berrien sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Drane was driving and was owned by Schweim. All except Moore were thrown out of the car.

Deputies said the car was almost stopped on I-94 shortly before midnight Tuesday when it was hit in the rear by a steel-laden truck just east of I-196. The truck driver, James Wheeler, 37, of Alto, Mich., was not hurt. The truck's load of steel was scattered along the highway.

Visitor from South America likes basketball, dislikes leaving Lawrence

LAWRENCE—Mrs. Jesus Garcia-Huidobro de Martinez, who lives in Santiago, Chile, has just sent a week in a small town as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Allen.

Mrs. Martinez is visiting the United States as an ambassador in the Experiment in International Living program. She is sponsored by employees of the American National Bank, which has a branch here, and is spending a week each at the homes of four bank employees.

Mrs. Martinez has been quickly exposed to things she hasn't seen in South America, like blizzards and small towns. Visiting first at Kalamazoo, she was snowbound at Nazareth college for four days.

At Lawrence, Mrs. Martinez found basketball exciting. "They try so hard," she said of the players. At home, soccer is the big sport, but it is called football.

The number of organizations in American small towns was a surprise to her, too. She commented that she had witnessed a number of contradictions about the United States which she said she would not be able to understand if she had not seen them.

Mrs. Martinez's visit has one aspect which to her is not a happy one. That is leaving after each week's visit. "It makes me sad to leave all the friends I have made, knowing I probably will never see them again," she said. She indicates that she would like to stay longer.

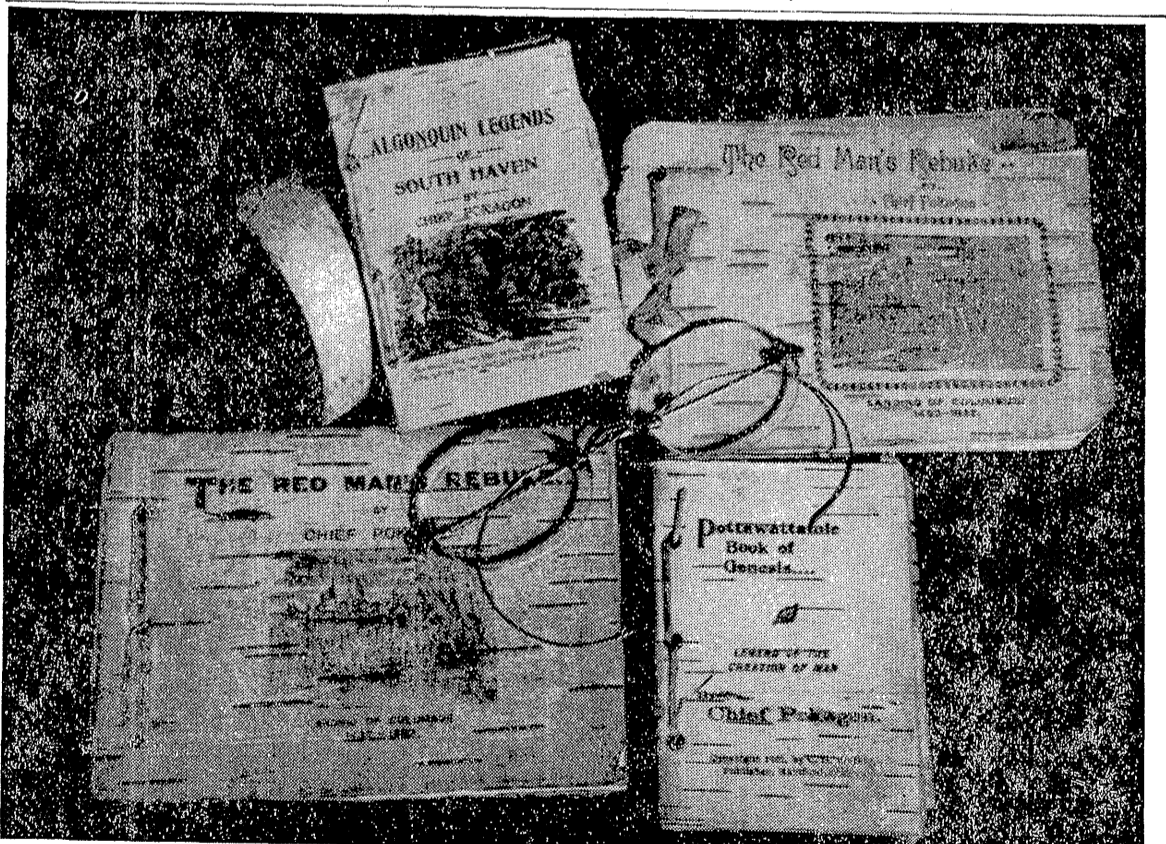

Mrs. Martinez is 27 years old and has completed her third year of five years of language study

Hartford Indian chief's birch bark books in Central Michigan library

Among the unusual books in the Clarke Historical library at Central Michigan university, Mt. Pleasant, is a collection of curious little volumes written by an Indian chief and printed on birch bark. The books are the works of Chief Simon Pokagon, a Potawatomi, born and reared near Hartford.

Simon was born in 1830, the son of Lepold Pokagon, the Potawatomi chief who figured prominently in the Indian treaties which ceded lands to the white man, including parts of the site of Chicago.

Until he was 12 years old, Simon knew only his Indian language. Then he studied five years at Notre Dame and went on to school at Oberlin and Twinsburg, Ohio. He became one of the best educated and most distinguished members of his race.

His little birch bark books were printed in hand-set type in Hartford Michigan, by an attorney friend of his, C. H. Engle. They were first sold at the Columbian exposition in Chicago. His appearance there attracted national and international attention and the interest created by the birch bark books caused fair authorities to recognize Pokagon and make him a guest of honor.

His first book sold on the midway of the fair was "The Red Man's Rebuke," an account of the sufferings and abuses which the Indians had endured at the hands of the white man. It was widely acclaimed in the periodicals of the day and one reviewer called it a "Poem in prose." Compliments were published in newspapers and magazines in the United States and Europe.

Following the initial success of his first publication, Pokagon produced several others including "Lord's Prayer in Algonquin Language," "Potatomi Book of Genesis," "Algonquin Legends of South Haven" and "Algonquin Legends of Paw Paw Lake."

The success which he achieved at the World's Fair was followed by many demands for his services as a speaker. In the years following, he was the author of several articles in the leading magazines of the nation.

Pokagon died in January 1899 and was buried in the cemetery at Rush Lake Catholic church, just north of Hartford.

Ground hemlock, white cedar, red osier dogwood, and red maple are good examples of preferred deer foods which sustain white-tails better than all others. Some second choice or good foods are hard maple, aspen, jack pine and white birch.
Winter can be a rough time for deer in northern Michigan. When snow becomes heavy in the deer range, these animals band together in deer yards—cedar stands, hardwood swamps and dense pine thickets.
Giant, v-shaped balloons are now being tested by some pulp and paper companies to carry felled timber out of otherwise inaccessible terrain.

Lawrence ends season with scoring spree

LAWRENCE—The Tigers staged a scoring spree here Friday night to down Hopkins 99 to 62 in the last game of the regular season. Lawrence will meet Covert at about 8:30 p.m. today (Wednesday) following the Saugatuck vs. St. Joe Ponies game in the district Class D tournament at South Haven.

John Marconi dumped in 32 points Friday night to bring his season's average to 24.9 and put him at the top of southwestern Michigan scorers for the second year in a row.

The Tigers displayed striking accuracy Friday night, sinking 44 per cent of their field goal attempts. They quickly took a big 26-8 lead in the first quarter and stretched it to 48-19 at the half. Fourteen players got into the game for Lawrence and all of them scored.

Hopkins improved its scoring in the second half, but Lawrence still outpointed the visitors 27 to 20 in the third quarter and 24-23 in the fourth. Terry Tarantino with 12 points and Joe Capps with 10 were the only other Tigers to hit double figures.

Lawrence finished its regular season in second place in the Al-Van league with a record of 12 victories and five defeats and 10-4 in the league. It was the best season for the Tigers since they went to the state finals in 1962.

The Tiger Cubs lost the preliminary Friday night 45 to 39, playing the last three minutes with only four players. The squad was down to seven players because of ineligibleities.

Kerry Haus (21) shoots from behind for Panthers

Panthers lose finale to Decatur in last seconds

WATERVLIET—The Panthers tried to close their regular season with a victory at Decatur Friday night, and almost—but not quite—made it. The Raiders kept whittling away at a Watervliet lead until they scored a one-point win, 72 to 71.

Free throws provided the victory margin for the Raiders. The Panthers sank two more field goals than their opponents, but made only 21 of 33 free throws to Decatur's 26 out of 40. Three Watervliet players left the game on fouls.

Watervliet started strong with a 25 to 10 lead in the first quarter, which Decatur narrowed by two points in the second frame. The Raiders outpointed the Panthers by four points in the third quarter and put on a fourth-period 23-13 burst.

Watervliet clung to a one-point lead with three seconds left when Decatur's Al Slaughter sank the winning basket. It was the only time in the game that the Raiders led, but it was the right time for them.

Bob Koshar led the Watervliet scoring with 23 points, followed by Kerry Haus with 21. The Panthers closed out the season with a lone victory and 15 defeats. Decatur jayvees won the preliminary Friday, 45 to 43.

Watervliet drew Paw Paw in the opening round of the Class B. district tournament at South Haven.

Comets lose last game to Eddies 94-79

COLOMA—The Comets hit 43 per cent of their field goals against Edwardsburg Saturday, but it proved far from good enough as the Eddies shot 47 per cent and won 94 to 79. The game was postponed from Friday night because of the snow storm.

Free throws figured prominently in the scoring as 61 fouls were called against both teams. The Comets sank 29 out of 50 charity tosses and the Eddies made 22 of 38.

Edwardsburg took a 26-14 lead in the first period and stretched it to 49-31 at the half. The Comets came within two points of matching Edwardsburg in third period scoring and outpointed the Eddies by five in the final frame.

Joel Carlson led the Coloma scoring with 26 points, followed by Bill Strejc with 18 and Jeff Thomas with 10. Thomas' points were all on fourth quarter free throws, the highest total from the foul line of any area player this season.

Coloma closed out the season at the bottom of the Blossomland conference with two victories and 12 defeats. Prospects for the Comets in the Class B district tournament were less than bright as Coloma drew South Haven, top Class B team in the state, for the opener.

By RICK WARD

HARTFORD—A brilliant first quarter was the big factor Friday night as Hartford overcame the Bridgman Bees 64-56. The victory enabled the Indians to gain a piece of the Red Arrow league championship which is shared by four teams.

The Tribe played perhaps their best ball of the season in the initial quarter of this contest. The winning combination of consistent scoring, rough board work, and aggressive defense added up to a 15-3 Indian advantage.

The rest of the affair saw Hartford hold on to this early acquired lead. Bridgman made it's most serious attempt to get back into the ballgame midway through the fourth period when the Bees cut their deficit to just six points. But, Hartford held the visitors from Berrien county in check the rest of the way to nail down the victory and a share of the league title.

Claud Hobson led the Hartford assault with 27 points. Ron Vleik was also in double figures with 11.

The Indians finished out the season with an 11-5 record, a mark accumulated entirely in league play and identical to the other co-champions: Gallen, the St. Joe Ponies and Benton Harbor St. John's.

Hartford meets Decatur tonight in the opening round of the Class C district tournament, hosted by the Tribe. The winner of this contest takes on the winner of the Bangor-Mattawan contest (played last night) in the district finals Friday evening. All tournament games begin at 8 p.m.

Rep. Root asks for readers' views on 'double fast time' for Michigan

By EDSON V. ROOT, JR.
State Representative

After fiscal reform, the hottest issue in Lansing at present is the question of time change. In an attempt to obtain a more uniform time throughout the nation, congress passed an act last year which would put lower Michigan on daylight saving time for six months of the year.

The act provided that if the legislature of any state did not act by April 1, 1967, to exempt itself from the federal law, that state automatically would come under its provisions.

As a matter of fact, Michigan is presently on year-around daylight saving time. Michigan belongs in the central time zone. During World War II, daylight saving time was adopted for the summer months and in 1945, we went on eastern standard time on a year-around basis.

Now, under the new act by congress, we may be forced to set our clocks ahead one more hour during the period from April 30 to Oct. 31—double fast time.

This move is being opposed by several large organizations (the Farm Bureau is very much opposed and I do not see how farmers could operate under this new time) and supported by others. Parents of school children are opposed because of the semi-darkness on school mornings. Because of the increased daylight hours, the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce is in favor of the new measure as are those in businesses connected with recreational activities. All of these reasons will have to be considered by the house, as the bill passed the senate by a vote of 24-11.

One very important fact to remember is that a bill must have a two-thirds vote of both chambers to receive immediate effect by the April deadline. The more controversial the legislation, the more difficult it is to obtain this two-thirds majority vote. I would be pleased to hear comments from the readers on this legislation.

End of disease widens state's pork markets

Broader exports for Michigan pork products may be a possibility sometime this spring following federal recognition that the state is "hog cholera free."

The last outbreak of this contagious and costly disease of swine in the state was in October, 1965. A state can qualify as hog cholera free if no cases of the disease have been reported for a year and all vaccines except killed virus vaccines have been prohibited for a similar length of time. Michigan meets both requirements.

Dr. J. F. Quinn, state veterinarian in the Michigan department of agriculture, and Dr. C. L. Hendee, federal veterinarian in charge of the state, say apparently there is no more infection.

Since January of 1966, Michigan has been in the final phase of a four-phase cooperative state-federal hog cholera eradication campaign. Drs. Quinn and Hendee point out that swine producers must remain vigilant for the disease until it has been eradicated in the entire nation. The target date for this is 1972.

"If a swine producer has sick pigs, he should contact his veterinarian at once," they warn.

Several possible foreign markets for ham and other pork products are open only to states that are hog cholera free. Michigan is one of the largest pork producers among the 22 states that reported no outbreaks of the disease in 1966.

In 1964, the most recent year for which figures are available, Michigan produced 261 million pounds of pork worth about $42 million to producers. The counties of Cass, Clinton, Hillsdale and Branch account for about 22 per cent of the state's entire production.

New Craft for Great Lakes Fish Studies

For many years, the Conservation Department has been literally "missing the boat" in its efforts to carry out intensive fisheries studies on the Great Lakes. That will be all changed sometime this July when it will be anchored aweigh for a new, modern-equipped vessel illustrated in this sketch. The 60-foot steel craft, now under construction at Escanaba, will be powered by twin diesel engines and rigged with the latest fish-finding and navigational equipment, including hydraulically-operated netting gear, radar and sonar. It will be manned by the Department to give its fisheries biologists the kind of accurate, up-to-date information on Great Lakes fish stocks that is needed to manage sport and commercial fishing on these waters for top allowable returns. Major emphasis aboard the craft at the start of its "recon" work will be on salmon and trout populations in lakes Superior and Michigan. The exact site has not been pinned down yet, but the big boat's home port will be on northern Lake Michigan.

Letters to - - the Editor

To the Editor:

In spite of the fact that Senator Hart influenced a 400 unit low rent housing preliminary loan of $87,500 for planning, to be now located at Grand Rapids, I want you to know that he is sponsoring another for Hartford. Secretary of Urban Renewal and Housing, Dr. Robert Weaver in Washington, may sponsor an undetermined number throughout the nation. Its getting close to election. Just you watch. With blaring advertisements by Hard Goods manufacturers offering $2.35 an hour to inexperienced labor, in towns near by, how many are you going to find that will live in unsanitary hovels and shacks and work for $1.00. The facts must be faced or the crops of this Country-side will just fade away. The little grower will want to make what he can and to pay exorbitant prices for mechanical harvesters is out. Our welfare load will increase.

When Uncle Sam puts money into homes, they are the very best and you can expect an array of solid construction of single and multiple dwellings on a professionally landscaped expanse that will make many a Hartfordite satisfy his eyes with its splendor and don't forget Hartford township can keep 10 per cent of the gross rental at a monthly rent of $50 each. Hartford township will receive $24,000 a year in lieu of taxes, when its paid for at 40 years at 3 per cent. Hartford's got something worth $8,500,000 that still can be rented for $240,000 a year. These are facts no visions in mental disturbance. These will be homes of envy not ridicule.

I understand that a petition is being circulated to kill this worthy construction for the uplift of struggling humanity. Where is that display of helpfulness and the morality your grandparents as well as mine knew 50 years ago? Hartford hasn't even started to grow. Just you watch. I thank you. Robert L. Brandt, Sr.

To the Editor: There will be a meeting of the Hartford Task Force, Anti-Poverty program at the Hartford high school library at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 7, 1967. A member of the Tri-County Community Action Commission, Inc., Benton Harbor, will be present at the meeting to explain the Anti-Poverty program. The purpose of the meeting is to form a "grass-roots involvement" committee to focus attention on problems and methods of involving the "hard-to-reach" lower income people, and to evaluate the pressing problems in our communities.

We want people from all walks of life and income brackets to attend this meeting, especially people in the area of Hartford, Lawrence and Keeler. You are an important part of our community. We need your help! You can help with the job of determining what are the most pressing problems facing us regarding economic development, in our area.

To date, South Haven and Covert are the only communities in Van Buren County taking part in the Anti-Poverty program. If no one attends the March 7th meeting, officers of the Hartford Task Force will feel it's a strong indication there is no problem regarding low income and poverty in the Lawrence, Hartford and Keeler area.

Louise Engle, Chairman
Hartford Task Force

It Was the Year of the San Francisco Earthquake

It was 1906 . . . the year of the San Francisco earthquake and tragic fire.

History doesn't record the inner thoughts of founders of DOWAGIAC SAVINGS & Loan Association. But the loss of homes in the 1906 earthquake and fire probably prompted them to organize some five months after the Frisco tragedy to provide the people of Southwestern Michigan an easy way to finance a new home.

It was in 1906 that a group of men of vision met in the Council Chambers in Dowagiac to organize the Co-Operative Building and Loan Association. The objective of the organization was to promote thrift savings and home financing.

That evening of September 11, 1906, the association became a reality and nine leading citizens were elected directors, including Sidney Mosher, James H. Kinnane, Jesse N. Bilderback, John Schmidt, John A. Lindsley, G. E. Bishop, J. R. Edwards, Burt Claspay and J. P. Higgins.

Thus was born an association of people who blazed a trail that made it possible for almost everyone to own their own home and to put their savings to work.

During the three score and six and a half years the association which is now DOWAGIAC SAVINGS & LOAN has been the instrument by which thousands have earned millions in dividends and by which thousands have been able to own their own home. Though 66 years old, DOWAGIAC SAVINGS & Loan still is full of vigor in carrying out the American tradition of thrift savings and home financing.
